

BOTH PLATFORMS AND CANDIDATES

Democrats of Illinois Endorse Action of the Denver Convention.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 8.—The state Democratic committee met again this morning to wrestle with the problem of whether the state convention this afternoon should accept a personal liberty plank in the platform. It was generally understood that the Cook county delegation would insist that such a plank be adopted.

Mayor Fred J. Kern of Belleville, in taking the gavel as temporary chairman, made a brief speech in which he charged that "James W. Van Cleave, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, is raising a campaign fund from corporations to aid the Republican national ticket and defeat those candidates who stand for the common people."

United States Senator John E. H. Johnson was given an ovation when he stepped forward to speak.

During the address, Adlai E. Stevenson, candidate for governor, appeared on the stage and was loudly cheered. When William L. Bryan came to the stage at the Democratic state convention here at 4:15 this afternoon the entire gathering arose and cheered for several minutes.

The resolutions as adopted endorse the national platform and the Denver nominees, and say:

"We recognize in the nominee of that convention for president, William Jennings Bryan, a man of clear vision, who is absolutely right on all the great and vital public issues of the day."

"We recognize in his nomination a special honor to our state of Illinois which gave him birth and in which he grew to manhood, and to the great and rapidly developing western country with all the hopes and aspirations which he is in perfect sympathy and accord."

The resolutions also laud the vice presidential nominee, John Worth Kern.

POLICE PARAGRAPHS.

F. W. Kellner, a hotel clerk, was arrested Wednesday afternoon charged with being drunk. Later in the afternoon his wife appeared at the police station and filed an affidavit against him on the charge of deserting property. Kellner had been "out with the boys" and went home with a load aboard. His temper was bad and he began breaking up the furniture and other articles about the room. Mrs. Kellner says that he is in the habit of doing the same "stunt" every time he gets drunk.

Roy McCabe, a laborer, was arrested by Patrolman Olsen Wednesday evening in Commercial street and charged with petit larceny. He is accused of stealing a bundle of clothing and blankets from W. J. Morgan.

E. Willmont was arrested Wednesday morning by Patrolman Clough on suspicion of being a holdup man. When searched at the police station, two big revolvers were found in his possession. He is charged with carrying concealed weapons, but another charge is likely to be placed against him.

J. A. Lisle filed a complaint before Justice of the Peace Dana T. Smith Wednesday afternoon, charging J. T. Turner with cruelty to animals. Lisle accuses Turner of working a horse named "Lame," which case will be heard today.

Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning Lieutenant Hempel made a cleanup of vagrants and hoboes who have been sleeping in the Commercial street rooms. As a result of the raid on the joints ten husky bums were locked up in the city jail and as many more given one more chance to "beat it."

In police court Wednesday afternoon the ten "vags" all entered pleas of not guilty. Judge Diehl told the defendants that their cases would go over another day. Some one handed them a "tip" and they all withdrew their pleas and pleaded guilty. Midnight was the time limit for getting out of town, which gave hours to spare in several cases.

Carl Larson was found guilty of driving his automobile too fast through the main streets and was fined $25. As a result of his careless driving he knocked down an old man at Third South and Main streets, and caused him some painful cuts. He promised to be careful in the future.

COMMERCIAL CLUB EXHIBIT

Chamber of Commerce Collection May Be Combined With Proposed Display.

In a letter read at the meeting of the Salt Lake Real Estate association yesterday afternoon, Fisher Harris, secretary of the Commercial club, stated that when the club's new building is completed, 6,000 feet of space in the basement will be used for an exhibit of the products of Utah's farms and mines. The letter was addressed to George M. Cannon, chairman of the association's committee which inquired into the plans of the Commercial club relative to the proposed exhibit.

It is said to be probable that some arrangement will be made for the combination of the exhibit now maintained at the chamber of commerce with the Commercial club's exhibit. The Real Estate association contributes largely toward the maintenance of the display at the chamber of commerce. Mr. Harris said in his letter that the Commercial club exhibit will be open to the public at all times.

A letter was read from Edward A. Halsey of Chicago, secretary of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges, asking the Salt Lake association to join the national organization. It was decided to send two delegates to the National Irrigation congress at Albuquerque, N. M. One of these will be B. A. M. Froiseth. The other has not yet been named.

There was some discussion of the recent utterances of Rev. F. B. Short of the First Methodist church of Salt Lake to Cincinnati audiences. At the suggestion of Fisher Harris, secretary of the Commercial club, it was decided to ignore Mr. Short's remarks concerning Salt Lake.

IN GOOD COMPANY. (Cleveland Plain Dealer.) "Johnnie," said his mother, "if you had made the right kind of effort you might have won a place on the champion spelling class."

Johnnie shook his head. "No, ma," he said, "I wouldn't have spent more time in a spelling match than Shakespeare would."

REAL ESTATE NEWS AND VIEWS

Home-building in Salt Lake will continue this fall as long as the weather remains favorable for construction. Buyers of residence sites are as busy as ever in arranging for the erection of houses, and there is still such a demand for completed dwellings that a number of investors who have put up many houses during the past summer and have then sold are pushing new undertakings.

Hoffman Bros. have had plans drawn for two double houses at Fourth East street and Herbert avenue which will cost $2,000 each, or a total of $4,000. The contract for the work of construction will be let in a few days. They have completed arrangements for the erection of two more five-room houses at Fourth East street and Herbert avenue. These will cost $2,500 each, or a total of $5,000. They are also building three four-room cottages in Ninth West street between Sixth and Seventh South streets. Each of these houses will cost $1,500.

The Ashton-Jenkins company has started work upon ten new dwellings east of Liberty park between Ninth and Tenth South streets. The houses are being constructed on various pieces of property and are not all together. They range in size from four-room to seven-room houses, and the average cost will be about $2,000, making the total investment $20,000.

Having completed nine houses in Commercial street at an aggregate cost of $7,000, Ashton Bros. are now at work on nine more in Conway avenue, which will cost an additional $2,000. Conway avenue extends north and south in the block between Sixth and Seventh South streets.

MAGAZINES. WORLD'S WORK.—A striking feature of the September World's Work is two pages of photographs showing some of the Olympic games in London; and a wonderful collection of new photographs of athletes. Every kind of machine is shown, of which there are probable developments, in process of construction, in preparation for flight, and in flight.

NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW.—The September number of the North American Review opens with an extremely able article by Henry Wade Rogers, dean of the law school of Yale university, on "The New Federalism," and its dangers. Colonel Charles W. Larned, U. S. A., gives startling proof of the "Hoffman Bros. scandal." Professor Archibald Henderson of the University of North Carolina pays tribute to the "George Meredith." William S. Rostert presents "A Common-Sense View of the Immigration Problem." Henry White discusses "The Labor Union and the Presidential Campaign." Police Commissioner Theodore A. Blinham recites some disturbing facts regarding "Foreign Criminals in New York." Mundell Bey tells the story of "The Regenerated Ottoman Empire." Percy Mackaye emphasizes the necessity of "Self-Expression in the American Drama." Salvatore Costi describes the present relations between "Italy and the Triple Alliance." John Grier Hibben descants upon "Paradox of Research." Lucius P. C. Garvin in an article entitled "Labor and the Tariff," endeavors to show how the tariff works to the interests of the working man. The seventh installment of Sydney Brooks' series of articles on "The New Ireland" deals with the movement for agricultural co-operation.

THE CIGARETTE RECORD. (Washington Cor. New York World.) There were 55,402,339,113 cigarettes smoked in the United States during the last fiscal year, according to government statistics just issued—25,000,000 is perhaps a fair estimate of the number of men and boys in this country who smoke tobacco. So, on an average, each smoker consumed 2,216 cigarettes last year, or 6 1/4 a day, the fraction representing the very small butt a cigarette smoker throws away.

But of the 25,000,000 smokers many million smoke cigars or pipes, and some smokers roll their own cigarettes. So the average number each cigarette smoker consumes daily must be much higher than 6 1/4. The government statisticians are very proud of their accuracy in carrying out a figure so high as 55,400,000,000 to the very last number—13. Perhaps there is a warning to cigarette smokers in these last two figures. Anyhow, the cigarette habit is growing tremendously in this country.

STILL SUSCEPTIBLE. (Youth's Companion.) He was a nervous, fidgety young man, and he looked with considerable apprehension at the woman next him, who held a baby, its face covered with a thick veil. The baby gave now and then a sharp cry, which the woman evidently tried to suppress.

At last, after many anxious glances, the young man spoke. "Has—the baby any—anything contagious?" he asked. The woman looked at him with a mixture of scorn and pity. "Wouldn't be for most folks," she said in a clear, ringing tone, "but maybe 'twould for you. He's teething."
